

I. What is the river that begins in the plateau of Tibet and runs across the farmlands of northeastern China?

J. What is the plateau in the southwestern part of China that comprises approximately one fourth of the whole country?

K. What is the mountain range south of the plateau of Tibet that extends 1,500 miles through six countries?

L. What body of water is located between Korea and China?

M. What is the river that flows from the plateau of Tibet across central and southern China to the East China Sea?

N. What is the desert that extends 1,000 miles through southeast Mongolia and north China?

O. What is the plateau in southern China where much of China's rice is grown?

P. What is the basin in central China that is south of the Qin Ling Mountains?